

Planting activity – 2025

In March Ron Muñoz, a Master Gardener volunteer for the Botanical Gardens, gave a talk to all the children on how to grow vegetables. He led off with questions from his talk last year to see how much knowledge they retained. They then chose their seeds from green beans, zucchini, and radishes. This year they planted their seeds directly into the raised bed. They then occasionally watered and nurtured their plants.

Harvest Day: March 12 the children picked the green beans.

Eating: The next day Sister cooked the beans and served them to the children.
